REST IN ARLINGTON

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Special.—

Escorted by sailors from the United States ship Birmingham and North Carolina, thirty-four caissons, draped with Union Jacks, bearing flower-strewn coffins containing the remains of four of the men who sacrificed their lives on the island of Havana Harbor, will be drawn south through the streets of Washington this afternoon to the State, War and Navy Building, where memorial services will be held.

The caissons, with their escort, will leave the navy yard at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, passing up Eighth Street to Pennsylvania Avenue, along Pennsylvania Avenue to Fifteenth Street, and thence around the south side of the Treasury and the White House to the south front of the State, War and Navy Building. The caissons, each bearing a coffin, will stand in front of the building during the ceremonies. These exercises will begin at 2:15 o'clock, and will continue until 3:15 o'clock.

On the lawn at the south of the building have been erected seats for the distinguished persons who will attend the ceremonies to render their last tribute. Naval officers will wear full dress uniforms with mourning badges.

President Will Speak.

An address will be made by President Taft, and it is expected that Rev. John P. Chadwick, chaplain of the Maine, will also speak. The services proper will be conducted by Rev. E. Livingston Bayard, chaplain of the navy yard, and will be brief and simple, consisting of a few prayers. A battery stationed near the monument will boom the national salute of twenty-one guns.

Carriages and automobiles conveying guests to the Maine memorial services this afternoon, after discharging them to the designated place at the south end of the White House grounds and remain parked in Pennsylvania Avenue until after the services are over, when they will be admitted to Executive Avenue again to receive the guests.

Captain Osgood Smith, Dr. L. S. Harvey, and Major J. F. Case, the delegation from the camp, U. S. W. V., which accompanied the remains of the Maine victims from Havana to Washington as a guard of honor, will accompany the caisson to the navy yard to the cemetery of Arlington. Kallipolis Grotto, of the Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm, will place a wreath of flowers and laurel leaves on the caissons.

Bells Will Toll.

The services at the graveside will be conducted under the ritual of the United Spanish War Veterans. The ceremonies will be conducted by Father Chadwick, assisted by Chaplain Bayard, U. S. N. A. quarter from the Church of the Covenant will sing. While the ceremonies are being held at the State, War and Navy Building, the old bell which hangs in the tower of the old engine house occupied by the Association of the Oldest Inhabitants, at Nineteenth and H Streets Northwest, will be tolled. "The Paul Revere bell," of All Souls' Church, which sounds for the funerals of Presidents, admirals, generals, and great national figures, will likewise toll solemnly.

"Liberty Bell," in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, will toll today during the solemn ceremonies in the National Capital. The bell will be tolled as the result of a special proclamation of Mayor Blankenbush.

The Senate and House adjourned yesterday not to meet until Monday in order that their members may attend the services today.

Because of the services this afternoon, the reading rooms of the Library of Congress will be closed to the general public between 2 and 6 o'clock. The rooms will be reopened at 6 o'clock and will continue open until 10 o'clock, as usual.

LILLIAN FRENCH TELLS OF WOES OF A LAUNDRY

NEW YORK.—Special.—Chewing

rum, postage stamps and letter paper were some of the necessities of life that Lillian French purchased since she was ordered to appear in the City Court and tell why she hadn't paid for some washing machinery used in the laundry started last fall by Mrs. French to give the exclusive lingerie a place to be refreshed.

Mrs. French appeared Thursday in the City Court to show cause why she shouldn't be punished for contempt in not having answered questions satisfactorily to Jerome L. Adler, who appeared for the judgment creditor. She wore a seakink cloak that reached to her ankles, a violet covered bonnet, a white shirtwaist, a blue skirt and a smile that changed to a frown under the questioning of Adler. Three times during the hearing she refused, by advice of her counsel, Hertzberg &amp; Kaufman, to answer the questions propounded, but in each instance Judge Finell directed that the examination continue.

Mrs. French said that since the proceedings had begun she had received $75 from "Mr. Bearman of the Press Club"; $69 from her "literary manager," Mr. Stroock, both of which amounts had been loans, and added that Stroock had set her a $1.71 laundry bill, while Harry Waugh had paid her $2 for his laundry.

Asked what she had done with the money she said she had paid it out for board, room and other necessities, naming the other necessities as the chewing gum and stamps.

"How about clothes?" she was asked.

"Gracious me, I haven't had any clothes in six months," she exclaimed. "I haven't paid all of last week's board money and don't know where I'm going to get the money to pay this week's," she said. "I can't pay this bill because I haven't anything. You can't get blood out of a turnip."

At the conclusion of the hearing Adler renewed his motion that Mrs. French be punished for contempt, but Judge Finell decided that the witness had purged herself and the proceedings were adjourned.

COLLISION OF CARS
INJURES MANYOne Killed, One Fatally Hurt and Eighteen Others Injured in Accident.

FORTVILLE, IND.—Special.—

Motorman Bert Minzer was burned to death; W. C. Robbins, aged fifty, Detroit district manager for the Proctor-Gamble Company, probably fatally injured, and eighteen other persons less seriously injured as the result of a head-on collision, and subsequent destruction by fire of two interurban cars west of here last night, which the coroner is investigating today.

The most seriously injured were M. S. Leisner, Indianapolis, badly cut; Robert Sheburn, Northampton, Ind., head and shoulders crushed, and Fred Babcock, St. Louis, jaw broken.

The injured were taken to Indianapolis in the caboose of a Big Four freight train.

OUTLAWS HAVE
PERFECT SIGNAL CODEHILLSVILLE, CARROLL COUNTY,
VA.—Special.—It has been reported here that the fugitive outlaws have perfected a complete and reliable system of signaling to each other by means of waving sheets, flags, U. S. W. V., which accompanied the remains of the Maine victims from Havana to Washington as a guard of honor, will accompany the caisson to the navy yard to the cemetery of Arlington.

They have kept each other minutely informed of every move of the pursuing detectives, it is said, and have thus escaped arrest so far.

A member of the Baldwin-Felts party, who has been following information to the effect that the outlaws had posted sentries on the hillsides armed with powerful spyglasses on the roads and mountain passes.

Occasionally the detectives hear faint rifle shots echoing through the valleys. Once or twice they have seen, it is said, a sheet waved, or "wig-wagged" from a rocky crag. Thin lines of smoke—sometimes one, sometimes two or three—have been seen curling up against the sky. At night signal fires twinkle and burn on half a dozen peaks.

These people have a perfect signal code, said one of the detectives. "Equipped with long-range field glasses, their lookouts posted on the mountain's knolls can see and follow the trail of the outlaws in a day's time by waving white sheets or by discharging their rifles. The outlaws know what we intend to do as well as do ourselves."

Accompanied by two heavily-armed detectives and his uncle, Jack Allen, young Sidna Edwards was brought in yesterday from Lumburg and locked in the Hillsville jail. He will probably be sent to Roanoke this evening or tomorrow. He declares that he took no part in the shooting and would have given himself up long ago except for the fact that he had been told that the detectives would shoot him on sight.

ENGLAND STILL STRUGGLES WITH LABOR PROBLEMS

LONDON.—Special.—New campaign plans were formulated by the executive committee of the Federated Miners' Union at a meeting this morning which had been called to consider the new situation, which has been created by the action in Parliament of the government in killing the amendment to the minimum wage bill which provides for a fixed wage of $1.25 daily for men and 50 cents daily for boys.

There was no session of the House today, but the bill will be up for third reading and final passage on Monday, when it will also be transferred to the House of Lords for consideration.

Commons did not adjourn until nearly 1:30 o'clock this morning, after a stirring session in which dramatic events moved with swiftness. The end of the third week of the national struggle found the United Miners' Union still wrestling with its Titanic labor struggle and with a tide increased by tens of thousands and the distress so acute in the industrial centers that thousands are living on charity.

FEAR FOR SAFETY OF
SCOTT EXPEDITION

WELLINGTON, N. Z.—Special.—

The Japanese Antarctic expedition, under Lieutenant Shirase, arrived here today from the south and was accorded a greeting scarcely less cordial than that received by Captain Amundsen.

The Japanese flag decorated many buildings and the ship Kaiman Maru, upon which the party was traveling, was the object of much attention as she lay in the harbor.

The arrival of the Japanese party has caused grave fears to be felt for the safety of the British Antarctic expedition, under Captain Scott, as Lieutenant Shirase reported that his men had neither seen any of the English party nor any track of them.

It is now regarded in some quarters as more than a possibility that the expedition may have perished within the Antarctic circle, as they are over due in getting back to civilization.

All the members of Lieutenant Shirase's party are in good health. They announced that they had made valuable explorations along the coast of King Edward VII land.

When the miners went into session today an expression from Enoch Edwards, the national strike leader, was construed by some to indicate that the minimum wage bill might completely be rejected by the men.

The miners adjourned at noon, after adopting a resolution to meet government representatives in joint conference on Monday. They later reassembled and continued their own conference.
